BUDGET MATTERS 2018: Setting the Stage for Statewide Prosperity

Join hundreds of policymakers, advocates, community leaders, students, media reps, and other civic-minded Washingtonians for the Washington State Budget & Policy Center’s annual Budget Matters conference – a week after the 2018 election. We’re excited to welcome professor john a. powell, director of the Haas Institute for a Fair and Inclusive Society, as our keynote speaker!

Together, we’ll have the chance to discuss how the election’s results will affect progress on legislative priorities heading into the 2019 legislative session, and how we can work together to advance bold policy solutions that will help all Washingtonians thrive.

Interactive breakout sessions will cover wide-ranging topics to pave the way for policy wins, including child savings accounts, the Working Families Tax Rebate, and effective anti-poverty messaging strategies.

ABOUT WASHINGTON STATE BUDGET & POLICY CENTER

Washington State Budget & Policy Center is a research and policy nonprofit that advocates for social and economic state policies that lift up low and moderate income households and eliminate barriers to opportunity for people of color. Through credible, research-based data and analysis, we work with grassroots organizations and coalitions across the state to champion policies that help ensure Washington state’s budget advances the well-being of our state and its people.
